The National Youth Theatre is the most vibrant and challenging youth arts charity in the country. There are two vital aspects of our ambition that need support, hopefully yours...

The NYT Angel Scheme offers individuals and companies the opportunity of investing in young British talent. Unlike commercial theatre the return on investment is the development of strong, confident and articulate young people with a desire and the tools to succeed in life.

NYT Angels can directly support young people or productions.

Our Bursary Angels make it possible for young people from every part of the UK to take part in NYT activity, no matter what their personal circumstances are, and empower young people to make a significant difference in their lives.

Our Production Angels back both new writing talent and great new productions by large ensemble casts. Our productions compete against commercial competitors and we are reviewed as a professional company.

"... the National Youth Theatre demonstrates once again its importance not only as a launchpad for careers, but as a conduit between young people and pertinent issues."
Sam Marlowe, *The Times

100% of your donation will either go towards bursary support or creating a new production.

Bursary Angels

Audition Angel £30

Sometimes it is just the cost of an audition that prevents a young person from taking part.

Travel Angel £200

Because we are a national company, young people can face £100s in travel expenses. This is the most common cause of drop-out for our members.

Daily Angel £1,000

For young people who are taking part in productions or courses that take several months the ability to pay for their lunch and their travel costs each day is reduced by their inability to take on paid work.

Complete Angel £5,000

£5,000 will pay for the total cost for one young person of an audition, a two week NYT course with accommodation and expenses, and participation in productions for the duration of their membership. This will enable a young person who does not have the ability to earn or access funds of their own to be supported throughout their membership.

Bursary Angel donations will be part of the larger Ed Wilson Bursary Fund from which bursaries are distributed to both members and non-members. The process is documented online at www.nyt.org.uk under the various bursary sections of the site.

Production Angels

Props and Costume Angel £1,000

Our sets and production values reflect the professional ambitions of the company and our props and wardrobe, despite frequently being made by members, have significant material costs. We ensure a high standard of production in order to create aspiration within our membership.

New Writing Angel £5,000

Each year we commission well known and new young writing talent to work with us. It is important that we continue to access the best writers for our young ensemble casts to ensure that the excellence of our productions remains a strong incentive for our membership.

Local Angel £10,000

Each year we aspire to deliver a professional production in communities that do not have regular access to excellent drama. These productions are inexpensive but extremely effective and help us access hard to reach audiences for our future membership.

West End Angel £25,000

Each year we stage between four and eight productions in London's West End during the summer holidays. Each production is entirely youth led and delivered and they are nationally reviewed. These productions are the pinnacle of achievement for our members and are what enable us to provide progression routes for so many.

Production Angel donations will be part of the new Production Fund. This fund will be used to fund exciting new productions that further the aims of the charity and reflect the aims and interests of the members of the NYT.
